

LINUX TERMINAL SHORTCUTS CHEATSHEET

Automatically complete the file, directory, or command you're typing.

Erases the complete line.

Kill the current foreground process running in terminal.

Erase the part of the line after the cursor.

Suspend the current foreground process running in terminal.

Erase the word before the cursor.

Delete the character at the cursor location.

Paste the last thing you cut from the clipboard.

Clears the screen just like clear command.

Go to the previous command in the command history.

Move the cursor to the beginning of the line.

Go to the next command in the command history.

Move the cursor to the end of the line.

Search for a command in command history.